NEW YEAR, NEW NAME

The biggest change in 2018 was the Museum's name change from the American Maple Museum to the International Maple Museum Centre. This change led a new logo and with it new merchandise. The new name also brought with it a new web address and email address. Our new web address is www.maplemuseumcentre.org and you may reach us via email at info@maplemuseumcentre.org.

Hall of Fame Induction Highlights

2018 International Maple Hall of Fame inductees Eric Randall and Bruce Gillilan pose with their wives in front of the American Maple Museum.

"Maple Season" art exhibit by Beaver River 10th and 11th graders.

During the International Maple Hall of Fame induction ceremony, Mike Girard set up his exact replica of his family's Girard's Sugarhouse in the North American Maple Syrup Council Room. The actual sugarhouse is located on Number Nine Road in Heath, Massachusetts. It took Mike over 400 hours to construct the model, including countless hours to cut the scaled lumber from 1x6 pine, replicate the evaporator, tanks and the miniature sugaring utensils that are hanging in the sugarhouse.

The Museum unveiled the Interactive Hall of Fame Exhibit in the North American Maple Syrup Council (NAMSC) Room during the International Maple Hall of Fame Induction on Saturday, May 12. Visitors may now interact with the Hall of Fame with a touch screen exhibit that is searchable by inductee and by year. The exhibit enables visitors to view photographs of each inductee and read their biographies. The Interactive Hall of Fame Exhibit, as well as the television and other audio visual equipment, was paid for by the NAMSC.
